6.3.2.130815073.I think this is not the version you need. Quote: I want to know how to fix the problem when i open the bbc iplayer, I don't have any iplayer. it does not work. .iso file not found Okay then. even if i download the file from the internet it does not run. Can you say more about how the file did not run. Did it run for a couple seconds and then stop? Did it show a console message or other sort of output? i can download all the other files Then you're good to go. but bbc iplayer is a special thing. I don't know about that. somethings not the same. What do you mean? also there is no code for these things in the browser. Okay. I'm not sure what you mean there. but it is not the same in the studio and other files. Okay. You're probably right there. But it's possible that the answer you want is hidden somewhere. Because I've run into a couple of these sorts of problems in the past. ... Yes, and for quite a few years now. I want to help to find an answer. Okay. my best hope is that someone out there will have a better answer I'm going to try to help out a little bit. My first guess is that your file was encoded in a different format. why is it different for the other files. how can i encode these files and read them? You're not going to be able to. It is not possible. I'm going to assume that you're not talking about video. why are they stored in a different way? That's a pretty good question. is it to protect against people ripping them out? That's a pretty good guess. Quote: 82157476af
